

Landline's origin dates back to 2018 when former bandmates Oscar (drums) and John (guitar) got together with John's long-time friend, James (guitar), and new recruit, Aaron (vocals). Their plan was simple...to play the alternative tunes that had an impression on them during their formative years along with those that continue to shape their collective musical interests today. With the addition of Eric (bass), the members of Landline have over three decades of live experience playing in successful bands within and beyond Southeastern Wisconsin.
